

CHAMPION CAN-CONDITIONED BEER OF NORFOLK 2025 Double-Victory for Duration Brewing

West Norfolk brewery Duration is celebrating a double triumph after two of its beers were named the top Can-Conditioned Beers in Norfolk for 2025.

Taking the top honour was Ebb and Flow, a 4.8% American Stout, praised by judges for its 'molasses and treacle aromas, leading into a mix of savoury roasty, tangy red-fruit sweetness', brewed in Duration's beautifully restored 16th-century barn, located alongside the Nar Valley Way in West Acre. Ebb and Flow also impressed last year, securing the runner-up position in the same competition.

Following closely in second place is the popular 5.5% IPA Turtles All The Way Down, also brewed by Duration and described as 'a mix of tropical fruit and hop with a spicy kick'.

Ampersand Brewery took third place with Experiments in Evil, a bold 10.5% barrel-aged stout and last year's overall winner.

Alan Edwards, chair of the judging panel, commented,

'We are lucky to have so many notable, forward-looking brewers in Norfolk. Real ale in cans is another step forward in bringing quality beer to everyone and the two winning breweries are leading the way. We hope this competition, along with the number of brewers offering the beers continues to expand.'

The annual competition is organised by the four Norfolk branches of the Campaign for Real Ale (CAMRA), recognising excellence in can-conditioned real ale.
